White Swan	1923	In 1923, an 'action for possession' by Messrs. Troop and Eastwood, brewers, Malton, was reported. The tenant, Mr. George Field entered the tenancy on 6 April 1912. It was alleged that due to his neglect the business had 'practically gone altogether.' He responded that his house had always been a place for lodging by working class men engaged in the town. The reason his trade had gone down was because during the war period the firm had cut his supply to one barrel per week. Consequently he had lost the customer of the Leeds anglers who made the White Swan their headquarters but had to go elsewhere	Malton Messenger, 24 March 1923
